

RIDING A BIKE

Jerry skipped down the road as he headed home from school. He knew that he had a special surprise waiting [doe/ when/ for] him when he got home. Jerry's Uncle Marvin [was/ dip/ see] visiting from the city. Uncle Marvin [driven/ digger/ always] brought a gift for Jerry when [for/ he/ sit] came to visit. Jerry could not [did/ wait/ now] to see what the gift was [drag/ call/ this] time.

When Jerry ran in the [drawn/ driven/ front] door, he saw his Uncle Marvin sitting [as/ in/ or] the living room. "Hi, Uncle Marvin," [yelled/ doctor/ duster] Jerry. "You are still as loud [in/ as/ or] you always were," said Uncle Marvin. [He/ In/ As] gave Jerry a big hug. Jerry [knew/ corn/ keep] that Uncle Marvin was teasing him. Uncle Marvin [drawn/ liked/ cart] to tease Jerry. "What did you [flies/ class/ bring] me?" asked Jerry. "I just got [off/ had/ see] the plane and you are already [asking/ doctor/ better] me for a present!" said Uncle Marvin. "[At/ If/ So] you go out into the backyard, [you/ sold/ drag] will find a present."

Jerry ran [dip/ eat/ out] to the backyard. He could not [upon/ don't/ wait] to see what Uncle Marvin had brought [for/ him/ sit] from the city. There, in the backyard, [dig/ call/ was] a shiny new bike! The bike [door/ we/ was] red with black handlebars. Jerry jumped [as/ in/ up] and down with joy. He had [event/ never/ quit] ridden a bike before.

Uncle Marvin [also/ value/ came] out behind Jerry. "Let's see you [get/ dog/ won] on this bike and ride it," [do/ or/ he] said. Uncle Marvin and Jerry wheeled [door/ form/ the] bike to the sidewalk. Jerry climbed [it/ on/ as] the bike. Uncle Marvin stood on [deep/ ask/ one] side and held the bike as Jerry pedaled [bat/ the/ for] bike down the sidewalk. Faster and [driven/ clear/ faster] Jerry pedaled with Uncle Marvin running [along/ moth/ vault] beside him. At last, Uncle Marvin [dip/ let/ eat] go of the bike. Jerry was [riding/ yellow/ orange] the bike all by himself! Jerry pedaled [down/ rice/ quit] to the end of the street. [So/ He/ It] was so excited that he finally [had/ for/ do] a bike of his own to [ride/ weep/ slow].

Suddenly, the bike hit a bump. Jerry [jet/ vane/ and] the bike went crashing into a nearby [drag/ erase/ tree]. Jerry sat up slowly. He felt [from/ dizzy/ sack] and was seeing stars. Uncle Marvin [newer/ came/ vase] running up to Jerry. "Are you alright?" [he/ by/ at] asked Jerry. Jerry groaned as Uncle Marvin [picked/ invent/ slower] him up. "Maybe I can't ride [do/ in/ a] bike after all," Jerry said. "Sure [base/ you/ bore] can," said Uncle Marvin. "Everyone takes [or/ a/ in] spill on a bike when they [are/ gone/ dock] learning how to ride."

Uncle Marvin [slows/ picked/ clear] the bike up. He helped Jerry [deal/ your/ climb] on the bike. Jerry took off [much/ meet/ bath] more slowly this time. With Uncle Marvin's [kept/ more/ help] he was riding the bike by [deal/ the/ doll] end of the day.
