

A CAMPING TRIP

It was summer vacation and John and Sam decided that they were going to go camping in the woods. They were very excited as they [dive/ made/ sister] their plans to go camping. The [hat/ two/ dog] boys had never camped before, so this [gather/ sister/ would] be a new adventure. "Well, John," [have/ come/ said] Sam, "do we have the tent, sleeping [sing/ bags/ when], food, and flashlight?" "Check," said John, "[we/ do/ no] also have matches to start a [slate/ vault/ fire] and a rope to tie our [food/ grab/ cone] up in the tree." "Why do [we/ do/ as] need to tie our food up [or/ be/ in] a tree?" asked Sam. "So the animals [have/ won't/ fight] get to our food," said John.

[Dip/ The/ Out] next morning, John and Sam loaded [in/ save/ all] of their gear into a backpack [and/ got/ dip] off they went to the woods. [Fight/ They/ Sing] walked and walked until they reached [all/ boat/ the] edge of the woods. The trees reached [high/ enter/ wait] into the sky and it was [gun/ cool/ sat] under the trees. The boys walked [dipper/ until/ care] they found a flat spot to [can/ will/ set] up their tent. After the boys [lent/ set/ bore] up the tent, they took their fishing [hard/ maul/ poles] and went to a nearby creek [or/ sat/ to] fish. The fish were biting that [joy/ day/ ant] and soon both John and Sam [lot/ had/ wall] caught a fish.

The sun began [to/ on/ saw] sink lower in the sky and John [said/ grab/ sack], "We better head back and fix [yellow/ river/ dinner]." John started the campfire while Sam cleaned [fit/ sip/ the] fish. The boys enjoyed their dinner [on/ of/ as] fish and fruit. After dinner, the [boys/ then/ wait] washed their plates in the creek. John [about/ said/ wind], "Before we go to bed, let's [use/ date/ can] the rope and put our food [in/ up/ as] in the tree." "No," said Sam, "[we/ do/ or] don't need to do that, animals [find/ quit/ won't] bother our food." "Oh, yes, they [find/ will/ slow]," said John but Sam kept saying "[do/ is/ no]" until John gave in. As the campfire [burned/ dinner/ slower] low, the night grew cool. The [dug/ boys/ sip] knew it was time to pour [kept/ clean/ water] over their campfire and climb into [you/ the/ had] tent. During the night, Sam woke [in/ up/ as] to a loud clattering noise. He [peeked/ grab/ slow] outside the tent and saw two [hard/ black/ desk] bears tearing open the boys' food [from/ song/ sacks]. "John was right all along," whispered Sam, "[from/ dolly/ there] goes our food."

Sure enough, when [the/ jib/ slow] boys got up in the morning, [had/ all/ slat] of their food was gone. All [key/ that/ swept] was left were some pieces of [paper/ from/ when] and tin cans laying in the [slip/ was/ dirt]. "What did I tell you. I [jolt/ call/ knew] this would happen," said John. Sam [then/ hung/ all] his head because he knew John [was/ ride/ wall] right.

The boys headed for home, with [their/ your/ quite] stomachs growling and feet dragging. They [joy/ will/ knew] this would be the last camping [dog/ wimp/ trip] for the rest of the summer.
