

MOM'S BIRTHDAY

5.25
 Mother's birthday would be on Saturday. Carol and Tom had been thinking [about/ share/ match] it for weeks. They wanted to [do/ is/ at] something extra special for her. They [between/ tunnel/ counted] up their money and did not [pipe/ have/ gave] enough to buy her anything nice. [Will/ They/ Slim] were disappointed. What could they do? [Then/ Feel/ Draw] Carol had a brilliant idea. They [lunge/ could/ grace] fix breakfast for Mother. At first Tom [severe/ crumble/ thought] it was a stupid idea but [then/ deny/ lily] he remembered that mother had always [shudder/ attach/ dreamed] about having breakfast in bed.

They [capable/ decided/ tragedy] on breakfast in bed, but it would [risk/ have/ cask] to be a surprise. They would [meat/ slim/ just] get up very early Saturday morning [and/ sit/ pat] fix her favorite meal. Then they [union/ would/ cradle] put it on a tray and [serve/ master/ awake] it to her in bed.

Carol suggested [fold/ wipe/ that] mother's favorite breakfast meal was bacon [oil/ for/ and] eggs. Tom added that she also [blink/ swift/ liked] toast and coffee. On Friday night [all/ and/ see] plans were made. They had been [sure/ sold/ / part] to check that there were plenty [at/ in/ of] eggs and bacon in the refrigerator.

[On/ Am/ To] Saturday morning Tom woke up first. [Is/ Do/ He] got Carol up and they both [kingdom/ slipped/ buster] downstairs without being heard. Carol started [making/ modest/ puppet] the eggs while Tom started on [den/ sit/ the] coffee. Scrambled eggs were the easiest [on/ at/ to] make so she mixed the eggs

[the/ and/ eat] poured them into the frying pan. Tom [watched/ severe/ popular] and said that he thought you [were/ wrist/ same] suppose to make the bacon first. Carol [series/ strick/ thought] that maybe he was right but [tote/ mate/ that] they would just cook the eggs [and/ ate/ was] bacon together. She put the bacon [so/ do/ in] with the eggs and stirred them together. [Elder/ After/ Cheat] all, she thought, people eat them together, so [the/ get/ why] not cook them together.

Tom was [busy/ sash/ tune] with the coffee and had the [match/ bread/ given] out for the toast. He wasn't [sure/ find/ were] how much coffee to use but [knew/ play/ pope] that he used three teaspoon per [dot/ cup/ the] for his hot chocolate. He thought [blink/ three/ queen] sounded about right. Mother usually made [still/ four/ frog] cups of coffee every morning for [sky/ her/ rug] and father. For four cups he [protect/ waist/ figured] he would need twelve spoonfuls of [inside/ nearby/ coffee]. He filled the coffee maker and [anxious/ started/ riddle] it while he worked on the [toast/ grace/ tunnel]. Within a short time the birthday surprise breakfast [fun/ jay/ was] ready. They used the best company [dishes/ prepare/ shadow] and put them on the fanciest [tray/ surf/ read].

Mother was not surprised but she pretended [in/ at/ to] be. The smell of strong coffee [ate/ had/ rat] awakened her a few minutes earlier. Although thoughts [it/ of/ is] a filthy kitchen were in her [risk/ wide/ mind], she was pleased that her children [cared/ store/ which] and wanted to do something special [sky/ for/ saw] her.
