

FIRST DATE

Frank had known Cindy for five years. They had gone to the same [prospect/ admiral/ schools], had many of the same classes, [rib/ and/ fit] even rode the same bus. Frank [always/ granny/ church] enjoyed talking to Cindy and felt [very/ stem/ yard] comfortable around her. It was very [perhaps/ unusual/ willow] for Frank to feel so comfortable [ginger/ around/ extend] a girl because he was shy. [Around/ Extend/ Volume] Cindy he was not shy. Right [now/ sky/ rug], however, he was nervous because he [wheeze/ porter/ wanted] to ask her out on a [give/ date/ clap]. He thought it was odd to [it/ on/ be] so afraid to ask her out [doll/ oven/ when] he usually felt so comfortable around [win/ her/ are]. The problem was that Frank did [set/ not/ dig] have much confidence in himself. He [north/ nearby/ assumed] that Cindy thought of him as [on/ is/ a] friend but not someone to date. [At/ If/ My] he asked her out on a [sing/ part/ date] she might laugh at him, or [in/ so/ we] he thought. Even worse, she might [every/ queen/ avoid] him and he would not feel comfortable [around/ garage/ consist] her anymore. He certainly did not [been/ sold/ want] to lose her as a friend.

Frank realized [gold/ that/ wigs] the time had come for him [of/ to/ me] make a decision. He either needed [to/ am/ it] ask her out or to stop thinking [about/ modest/ blink] it. In many ways it would [wide/ have/ star] been easier for him to say, "[I'm/ At/ Of] too shy, I can't ask her [jab/ bat/ out]."

He thought that was the coward's [pop/ way/ fig] out. He was tired of being [shy/ job/ hit]. He wanted to have fun like [mat/ the/ dot] other students in school and he [helper/ outlaw/ wanted] to have fun with Cindy.

Frank developed [so/ a/ by] plan of action for when and [man/ did/ how] he was going to ask her [the/ out/ his]. There was a new movie coming [for/ top/ out] this weekend and everybody was wanting [in/ of/ to] see it. He would ask her [to/ my/ as] see the movie and get some [ice/ see/ mit] cream afterwards.

Reasons why she would [big/ not/ was] go out with him kept going [through/ basket/ western] his mind. She may already have [is/ of/ a] date, she may not want to [can/ see/ bad] the movie, or she may not [yard/ crow/ want] to see it with him. Finally, Frank [straight/ kingdom/ decided] there was only one way to [find/ hold/ both] if she would go out with [got/ him/ wet].

On Tuesday, at lunch, Frank saw Cindy. [For/ She/ Own] was friendly as usual which made [by/ on/ it] easy for him to talk. Once [he/ in/ or] started talking the question just came [law/ out/ sky], "Would you like to see a [movie/ could/ going] Friday night?" To his surprise she [fold/ meet/ said] yes. Cindy then said that she [aim/ was/ ear] glad that he had asked her. [She/ Big/ Jet] was hoping that he would ask [its/ her/ tea] out.
