Dr. David Cormier facilitated a conversation with all district coaches and consultants...

On November 18, Dr. David Cormier facilitated a conversation with all district coaches and consultants, about best practices in the applications of coaching principles. The group focused on how coaches can work with teachers to establish goals, develop action plans and provide effective feedback based on classroom visits within the coaching model. The group changed gears in the afternoon to add to their toolbox for how to understand the needs of students through Looking at Student Work (LASW). The group reviewed protocols and practices related to LASW in order to support ongoing work in PLC's and to prepare for Professional Development for December 10th. The meeting advances our coaching work with Dr. Cormier, who has been visiting elementary schools providing embedded PD through modeling, observation and conversation of how each coach can maximize their own skills.
