Mr. Cabral kept every Washington scholar actively engaged...

Washington scholars feel very fortunate to have had an assembly with storyteller Len Cabral.

Grades k-2 and 3-5 went to two separate presentations where Mr. Cabral told many stories using just his voice including an Anansi fable as well as a story about Old Man Winter. Mr. Cabral's expressions and energy throughout his storytelling kept every student actively engaged, smiling, and laughing. Families of the Washington community were able to listen to more of Len Cabral's stories during an after school presentation. Grades 4 and 5 worked closely with Mr. Cabral throughout the week to create stories themselves that they presented to the younger grades. It was a truly rewarding experience for all scholars and staff.
